Arthur W. Martin (Physics) was elected chairman of the University Relations Committee, succeeding George Goodwin (Politics) who remains a member of the committee along with faculty members Richard Hogarty (Politics) and Louis Roberts (Theater Arts). Student members are Karla Baker, '74; Paul Boardman, '72; Catherine Main, '72, and Peter Stavros, '73.

At the committee's October 15 meeting Prof. Harry Brill (Sociology) and Berton Fliegel (Community Relations, Columbia Point) will discuss their roles in working with the community and explore ways that the community, students, faculty and staff can work together.

First honors as a university contributor to the United Fund goes to William R. Berkowitz (Psychology). His donation came in the next campus mail after last week's Bulletin and Chancellor's letter were delivered to the departments.

More mail will follow, and more contributions for the People Helping People appeal. If you don't want to wait for the mail send your check payable to United Fund to Public Relations 1-1221-B.

Poets Adrian Mitchell and Michael Horovitz will read from their works at the English Department lounge on October 21 and October 27.

Mitchell, who appears on October 21 at 12:30 p.m., is a novelist, writer for stage, screen, and television, a Visiting Fellow at the Center for the Humanities, Wesleyan University, whose play "Tiger" is now on the London stage.
Horovitz will appear on October 27 at 2 p.m. to read his poetry. Editor of "New Departures" and the Penguin edition "Children of Albion: Poetry of the Underground in Britain" he is the author of six books of poetry including "Love Poems" and "Wolverhampton Wanderer.

Dr. Kathryn Kremen (English) will introduce the poets at the readings.

Among those elected as chairmen of University Senate Committees are David Landy (Sociology and Anthropology) Academic Affairs; Thomas Margulis (Chemistry) Teacher Certification Program; Donald Lyons (Physics) Planning and Development, and Salvatore Schiavo-Campo (Economics) Budget.

Boston's recent junior derby, the march against drug abuse, had a UMass-Boston perambulator in Harold Bronk (Philosophy) who covered the 18-mile route. Several campus sponsors, who knew he could do it, contributed through his aches and pains for a worthy cause.

As it must for all whose talents are recognized, Stanley Gaw (Security) has been promoted to Captain by the J.D. Morgan Co., which has the security contract for UMass-Boston buildings. Capt. Gaw's corner office on the first floor of the main building is an information center for students and visitors.

Planned Parenthood League of Massachusetts is sponsoring a project for six colleges in the Back Bay area, including UMass-Boston, for an education program on sex questions. Mrs. Jan Bumstead has been appointed for the colleges' program. Her office is in Health Services. The advisory services for students is conducted on a completely confidential basis.
The Department of Politics and the Political Union are sponsoring a series of four panels on Practical Politics. Moderator will be Maurice A. Donahue, Commonwealth Professor of Practical Politics and Director of the Institute of Governmental Service. The first panel for the year will be on Legislative Leadership with four of the leading members of the Senate and House. They are Sen. William Bulger, (D), South Boston; Sen. David Locke, (R), Wellesley; Rep. Martin Linsky, (R), Brookline, and Rep. John Buckley, (D), Abington.

The panel will be on Thursday, October 14, at 12:30 p.m. in Room 1-10215. Faculty, staff, and students are invited.

The Personnel Department bulletins that Monday, October 25, is an official State holiday. This is Veterans Day, which once upon a time was in November.

State personnel practices note that: "An employee who is absent without leave or on leave of absence without pay on any part of his scheduled work day immediately following or immediately preceding a holiday will not be paid for the holiday."

Proudly Presenting..... Mordecai Gorelik in a series of lectures on November 1, 8, and 15 on The Irrational Theater, The Epic Theater, and The Social Theater of the '30s.

Players Magazine describes the UMB Visting Professor for the first semester as "designer, historian, teacher and translator" credited with a "long and productive career in the theater, remarkable for both its diversity and for its significance to all practitioners in the performing arts."

He is the author of "New Theaters for Old" which has been described as unique for its insights into the political and social developments that have affected the art of the stage and screen.
Vice Chancellor William R. Hamilton, Jr., is a member of the National Association of College and University Business Officers. The Association's Code of Professional Ethics is published below for information and comment.

COMMENTS INVITED ON NEW CODE OF PROFESSIONAL ETHICS

DURING 1970–1971 the Subcommittee on Ethics, a subcommittee of NACUBO's Professional Development Committee, worked on preparation of a draft "Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct for College and University Business and Financial Officers."

Edward K. Cratsley, of Swarthmore, was Chairman of the Subcommittee, his colleagues C. Russell DeBusto, Jr., of Tufts; John L. Green, Jr., Georgia; and Wilbur K. Pierpont, Michigan.

The draft was submitted to the Board with the Professional Development Committee's annual report in June. Now, comments on it are solicited. The text is reproduced in full below, and business officers having views on it are invited to convey them by letter to the NACUBO office in Washington.

4. The officer shall dedicate himself to exercising his special competence and knowledge to the most effective use of institutional resources and shall be prepared to work with others within the institution to this end. He must recognize the limits of his special competence as well as the strengths.

5. The officer shall conduct himself with due regard to possible conflicts of interest and be prepared to assist in the clarification of possible conflicts of interest which may arise within his institution. He should refrain from accepting duties, incurring obligations, accepting gifts or favors of monetary value, or engaging in private business or professional activities where there is, or would appear to be, a conflict between his private interests and the interests of his institution.

6. The officer shall foster the development of professional standards among his colleagues within his own institution and within other institutions of higher education.

The officer should ascertain that his institution is aware of the existence and content of this Code of Ethics and Standards of Professional Conduct.
