Do the right thing

Things that can cause violence is things like peer pressure, abuse and alcohol and drugs.

A lot of the time people end up doing alcohol and drugs due to peer pressure or a lack of an education. A lack of education can cause people to consume alcohol and drugs because if they miss out on a good education they can't get a job and will resort to drugs. You can stop this by staying in school doing your work so you can get a good education and get a good job so you will not have to resort to alcohol and drugs.

For parents a good way to stop your kids from doing drugs is giving them a decent allowance. This can help because if they want some money and you can't give it to them they can resort to drugs to sell to make some money. If you give them some money you can stop that from happening.
