Violence

Have you ever wondered how violence affects people? Well in this story I am going to tell you, that it is a fiction story, but it does happen in daily lives believe it or not. There was a girl name Alison. She was different compared to everyone else. She had different taste in music; she was into songs from the 1950s and 60s like The Temptations. And the way she dressed was different compared to everyone else too. Alison was not the type of girl to change for anyone, even if she gets bullied in school. People at her school didn't accept her for who she is, so kids at school would make fun of her and bully her. It's not easy for Alison to try to put a smile on her face but she doesn't want people to know that she is hurt.

One day Alison went to the bathroom before going to class and as soon as she walked in she saw 3 girls that always bullied Alison. She tried to go in a stall but the girls went in front of her. "Excuse me" she says a little bit terrified. All three girls laughed and that's when Alison knew something was going to happen. "Look listen here you pathetic little troll you don't belong in this school." One girl says looking at Alison while the other girls are laughing. "Ohay well that's your opinion but can I please get through to use the bathroom" Alison says in a low voice. "Nope until we know for sure your leaving out of this school. You don't belong here, No one wants you and no one even cares about you." Another girl says pushing Alison back. At this point it was three against one.

Alison was about to walk out of the bathroom because she did not want to be into problems but one girl grabbed her hair and pulled it, Alison closed her eyes in pain and tried to make the girl let go. Just then another girl decided to jump in and punched her in the face while the first girl was grabbing her hair. Alison had no control. You would see the third girl recording the other two girls and Alison whimpered in pain.

She tried to fight back but there was no use it was two against one. The girls heard a teacher come in and let go and Alison was on the floor in pain. "What's going on?" The teacher says looking at Alison on the floor. Alison realized that one girl that was in the bathroom went to call the teacher and Alison went to the nurse. There was no need for violence in this situation but since they jumped her she tried to fight back. But the three girls got in trouble and at that day she just knew violence will never help any situation. Instead of getting into violence when someone is bullying the best choice is to tell a teacher before even the situation gets worse than it already is.
