Rotary Club Speaker

Chancellor Carlo L. Golino said last week that "the country should take a look at itself and have an Urban Grant Act which would, through education, help solve some of the problems of urban society."

Before the Rotary Club of Boston, Dr. Golino said there should be a new focus on the Merrill Land-Grant Act of 1861 which created many public higher institutions of learning. These institutions were founded to provide greater production of food and fiber for the nation. "They also charged no tuition," he said.

Through the land-grant colleges many of the needs of the nation have been met. He said, "And America today has the greatest system of higher education in the world."

"But there are still needs. There are pockets of poverty that are manifest, especially in our cities."

Although he agreed with part of the recent Carnegie Report which said education must bend its efforts in an urban society, Dr. Golino said the problems will not be solved unless there is a massive infusion of funds by federal and other sources.

"Instead of supporting increased tuition for those least able to pay, I think we should return to the policy on which land-grant and community colleges were founded -- free higher education for all who can profit from it, without any financial barriers at all. This is the system that made American education the wonder of the world."

He also said it's outdated to think that family/breadwinners making $12,000 trying to send children to school and put food on the table are affluent.

Dr. Golino added that private institutions may need government funds, but they should be held accountable for those funds.

The College of Public and Community Service is sponsoring a talk by the executive director and field representative of the National Committee Against Repressive Legislation Thursday, Oct. 24, at 4:30 in Room 215, Main Building.

Frank Wilkinson will speak on "Nixon, Watergate and Repression." A veteran of civil liberties battles, Wilkinson was a public housing administrator before he became the head of NCARL.

Janice Kelm (Admissions) has been named an "Outstanding Young Woman of America" in recognition of "outstanding ability, accomplishments, and service to the community", according to Margaret Arnold, Chairman of the Board of Advisors of Outstanding Young Women of America, Inc., Washington, D.C. Janice was nominated by the Alumni Association of Moravian College. Our congratulations.

Honors for Janice Keim

It's a Girl

If you haven't seen Lillian Ross at her usual chores at the Center for the Handicapped, it's because she is on maternity leave. She and her husband are proud parents of Alisa. Lillian is doing a lot of her work from her home.

Hers

Professor Mary Ann Ferguson advises that the Higher Education Resource Services (HERS) has been funded by the Ford Foundation and established at Brown University for the purpose of improving the status of women in institutions of higher education. It acts as a national-clearing-house for women faculty and administrative openings, matching candidate and opening specifications. Department chairmen wishing to locate qualified women faculty are invited to use the services of HERS.

Women faculty who would be interested in being recommended for high-level advisory posts, trusteeships, national committees and commissions, are also invited to notify HERS of their availability and to submit a current vita.

The address is HERS, Box No. 1091, Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island 02192; telephone 401-863-2197.

Alumni Trip

The UMass-Boston Alumni Association is sponsoring an eight-day trip to the Canary Islands, departing from Boston April 21 and returning April 28. UMass-Boston personnel are eligible for the group tour rate. For details call Thomas Joyce, Director of the Alumni Association at Ext. 2272.

Central Duplicating

Tom Curran's office is now in operation at the Dorchester campus, telephone ext. 2117. Routine orders should be sent through campus mail. The shuttle which runs every half hour between the campuses can be used to transport rush orders. However, these orders must be hand carried by someone from the department.

Telephones

We now have so many telephone extensions off the Park Square switchboard that the equipment and the operators are working beyond capacity. At this point we are too close to the move to justify additional equipment. If response from the operators seems slow, please be patient.

Telephones (continued)

They are working as fast as they can to process your calls. We will have new equipment and more operators at the Dorchester campus, so these problems should disappear by the next semester.

Computer Conference

On Monday, October 29, 1973, Frederick Anderson, an applicant for the position of Assistant to the Director of Computer Facilities (Academic Services) will be available for discussion. All interested faculty members and students are urged to attend this meeting.

Time: 3:00 p. m.

Place: Chancellor's Conference Room
12th floor, 100 Arlington Street

United Way

Contributions and pledges are coming in for support of the UMass-Boston United Way appeal. Department chairmen and directors are asked to send returns to John Larner, Public Relations, Administration Bldg., Room 372. Everyone has the opportunity to participate, and through payroll deductions it's really easier to help people who need your help.
