Bullying

Have you ever witnessed bullying or have been bullied? It's the worst feeling in the world to see someone getting bullied or being bullied yourself.

Especially when you don't try to stop it and just ignoring the situation or your just simply being afraid getting bullied yourself, if you step in.

No one should ever feel scared or terrified being in school, school is suppose to be a safe environment to learn. No one deserves to know/or experience what it feels like. Anything can make a difference, even the littlest things. For example, if you ever run into the person, that you know is being bullied. You can just say a simple "hello" or "hi, how are you doing today?"

Those simple phrases can mean alot to that one person. When your the one witnessing the bullying of course, you would feel terrible & sorry. But the feeling is way worse, when you're the one being bullied. We live in a society, where innocent kids get hurt / bullied for no reason. People who bully kids are either lonely, having family problems, bad parenting or it's just there environment they live in. It could also be the group of friends they hang with in school & outside of school and that's how the bullying starts. Before the students that were getting bullied, had plans for there future. BUT, in some cases, students dont feel safe in school, so they drop out. If they drop out, they cant continue to persue there life dream. so lets make a difference and stop bullying!
