Do the Right thing

How has violence affected my life? Well there was one day I was in the 6th grade in the mid of spring, there moved a man next door to my house he had a dog named "Bilo" he was a white fluffy dog, the first time I laid eyes on Bilo he had this bruise on his leg, the next day I would hear the dog crying out for just a young girl, but what I found out was that the owner was actually abusing the dog, because one day I saw the owner go on the porten and hit the dog because he was barking when I saw that happen I really wanted to do something about it but I had no power over it, but that day I told my dad and my dad told me to mind my own business I got so mad that I just forgot about it so every night I would hear the poor dog bark and cry out loud and every week a new bruise on Bilo, so what I did is tell my cousin what happen and we went to the cops and told them what happend and so the cops did was take him and take him to the vet to fix him up then took him to the shelter and knew the the man has no dog, no nothing but I was proud of my self by standing up and actually doing something that help you empower your life and others

What are the cause of youth violence? I would say that man mustive had a bad childhood or an abusive one because hitting a dog for something as stupid as that is just out of control hitting creatures is not something us humans can do always watch what your doing.

What can I do about youth violence? you could stand up for what you believe in that dog was gona get killed if nobody stood up for him you need to do stuff that would let you think about some other people dont stay quite about stuff
