A summary of other statistics collected by the Registrar and the Office of Educational Planning: 52 per cent of the students are male; 48 per cent are female. Fifty-eight per cent of the students are between the ages of 18 and 24; 38 per cent are 25 and over.

Boston provides 37 per cent of the student body, including 12 per cent from Dorchester and South Boston; 37 per cent outside of Boston come from within 10 miles of the campus; 7 per cent from 10-15 miles of the campus; 18 per cent from other Massachusetts cities and towns, mainly within Route 495.

Moynihan in Washington

Before the recent New York senatorial election, Prof. Arnold Beichman, Politics, was saying that Daniel Patrick Moynihan would win 54 per cent of the votes. He did.

When the Boston Globe Bureau Chief for New York, Robert Lenzner, talked with Beichman after the ballots were counted, Beichman said: "People will flock to a man who uplifts the language, who has a sense of moral outrage.

"Pat will bring the moral quality of Daniel Webster and Henry Clay to a Senate that has not enjoyed such intellectual distinction for a long time."

Puerto Rican Culture

November has been designated as the Puerto Rican Culture Month by members of the Puerto Rican Student Union which will be sponsoring a series of activities on campus.

On November 19 AFLUENCIA, a 14-piece orchestra, will formally initiate the activities with a concert at 7:30 p.m. in the Science Auditorium. All are cordially invited to attend. At 12:30 on the 19th, an historical presentation on the history and culture of Puerto Rico will be given. The Committee says, "We hope the entire University community will join us in this historical celebration. Bienvenidos Todos!"

Sargent's Law and Justice
Lecture

Former Gov. Francis Sargent continues his Law and Justice Series today at 12:30 in the lower Science Auditorium at 12:30. In today's lecture he talks about the "quiet crisis, the quiet collapse at the center of the criminal justice system---the courts."

All are welcome to attend.

Law School Recruiting

Representatives of area Law Schools will be on campus this week to tell seniors about their respective programs. Faculty are asked to bring to the attention of their students the visits today from 1 to 3:45 p.m. of Boston University Law School; Thursday, 1 to 5 p.m., Harvard University Law School, and Friday, from 12:30 to 2 p.m., Boston College Law School. The meetings are in the Central Advising Office, Administration Building, second floor.

Blackwell is Contributing Author

Prof. James E. Blackwell (Sociology) is a contributing author to The Uses of Controversy in Sociology recently published by The Free Press. This book, edited by Lewis A. Coser (SUNY--Stoney Brook) and Otto Larsen (University of Washington) has been described by Free Press as "a critical assessment of some of the major controversies in sociology today. Twenty-three distinguished sociologists examine several areas of concern: trends in American society cleavages in the social structure, individual and societal modernity, conflict and revolution, the resurgence of ethnicity, labeling theory, the links between knowledge and policy, and theoretical and methodological problems."

Aside from Professor Blackwell, who authored the chapter on "The Power Basis of Ethnic Conflict in American Society," some of the contributing members include Milton Yinger (Oberlin), Arthur Stinchcomb (Berkeley), Dennis Wong (Columbia), Alex Inkeles (Harvard), James S. Coleman (Chicago), Raymond Duvall (Yale), David Riesman (Harvard), Peter Rossi (UMass-Amherst) and Immanuel Wallerstein (Columbia). Essentially, Professor Blackwell argues that it is the struggle for power in access to limited social, economic, political and status resources which underlies ethnic and racial conflict in the American social system.

German Literature Talk

On Friday, November 19, at 12:30 the young Austrian writer and essayist Christian Wallner will read from his works and give an informal talk on the role of the "Grazer Gruppe" as one of the principal avant-garde groups of contemporary German language literature (in German). Everyone is cordially invited. Place: German Lounge (010-6-52).

Giustiniani Lectures

Professor V. Giustiniani (Italian Dept.) has delivered on invitation of the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft a lecture on "Plutarch and the Humanistic Ethics" at its annual meeting in Göttingen on October 7. On November 5 Prof. Giustiniani delivered another lecture in Boston at the Circolo Letterario Italiano on "Poetry in Italian Dialects".

Advisor on Minority Students

Vice Chancellor LeVester Tubbs has been invited to participate on a Minority Higher Education Advisory Council to serve as a direct line of communication between the higher education community and the office of Paul Parks, Secretary of Educational Affairs, on matters of concern to administrators and faculty with respect to minority students.
