Guy long-bottom wasn't the brightest person in the world, but his mistakes are someone else's chances to make fun of him. Guy is autistic, he's perfectly fine as a person, and he just omakes mistakes once in a while. He made his worst by spilling his lunch all over the school bully, Juan. Guy is weak and Juan is big and strong, when his lunch was spilled on him he realized guy was there to pick, Juan didn't really like guy so he stayed away, : ohh a a a im soo rry I r realllly didn't mean it", " hey, really you stupid idiot", Juan pushes guy to the ground. Everyone else in the cafeteria back away and watch. Guy still on the floor just stares, you could see his face start to water, the lunch mothers didn't want to get into the situation, and Juan's mother owns the school and could fire them if they bothered her son. Guy is able to get to his feet and run out of the cafeteria, he looks back and sees Juan run his thumb across his neck.

Guy didn't know his mom, after she found out he was autistic she knew couldn't take care of him and gave him to his grandmother, she would just say high give him a snack and that's it until dinner, the dame routine hi gives food end of story. Of course he needed help so he would sneak of and go to the community center were the staff would talk to him, encourage. Home away from home. There was a lot of after school activities so Juas as big a strong as he was would sign up for everything, a staff member encouraged to sign up for something, and he signed up for flag football, Juan's favorite thing to play. Guy wasn't scared of Juan he just thought he was mad because of the food spilled all over him. Coincidentally they would be put on the same team, Juan was the qb, and guy would be in every 5 plays then get pulled out after 3, and Juan would whip the ball at Guy every time he would get open and say it was accidental. Of course it wasn't. And after the first game in the locker room guy was alone, he would wait for everyone to change, and Juan waited for him, and as soon as he got in punch, punch, punch. Right to the face. Guy didn't know what was going on, and soon enough he was knocked out, and the beating continued for five minutes, a staff member found him and brought him home. His grandmother didn't even care, stone faced finding out he would run a way and learn he got hurt while he was out running about. And again Juan's father owns the community center and they weren't able to do anything. Guy started to walk around the house knowing he couldn't go anywhere, he stumbled upon his grandmother's room, he looked around and he found under the bed a loaded handgun. At that point guy was scared of Juan, and thought this was his only way of protecting himself, the next day during recess Guy pulled out the gun and shot Juan in the back, and the police came, thinking they would hurt him he raised the gun, before he could do anything they opened fire at the sight of the gun being raised, he was hit 5 times in the chest he died right there. Guy grandma was charged with possession of the weopon and Juan was put in a wheel chair for the rest of his life. Guns are NEVER THE WAY TO SOLVE YOUR PROBLEMS EVER. That was guys first though, this will stop him, and he failed miserably.
