Do The Write Thing

By [Redacted Name]

If you live in a world of violence its like a world of pain.
 I don't know why this violence won't stop its always happening?
 For all this violence what is there to gain?
 All this violence in the world you'd think its a real curse.
 So many people just getting hurt.
 This world is so violent it'll make you weep for violence to disperse.

On the day of independence day i gaze at the sky admiring the fireworks enjoying my summer.
 Soon the fireworks ran out and what swooped down to my street was silence.
 People just relaxing on their porches in this cool night not knowing there soon to be a blunder.
 A car completely black out with tinted windows and no license plate roared down my street by my eyes.
 The window rolled down and they threw a lit firework in the air and it went off and everyone got distracted, a arm held out a gun and pulled the trigger.
 Three people got shot but only one met their demise.
 Those weren't even the one who the culprits were looking for.
 This showed me that you always need to watch your surroundings.
 I thought about that incident so much my brain started to feel sore.

Youth violence is caused by kids wanting to be on top of the totem pole.
 Some people want to be the top dog of their street
 That is one of the goals for some of the youth that causes youth violence.
 Many young kids listen to very violent music and think the things said in these songs are cool.
 Thinking gang violence is a better life.
 This type of music can really make a person cruel.

There are multiple ways to solve youth violence, people don't always have to solve any problems with violence.
 Do you always need to use your fist on any problem you have with someone.
 The youth could stop this violence if they have guidance.
 Kids need to stop bullying one another.
 These kids shouldn't hate each other for having differences.
 You don't need smoother everyone with love but all youth should respect each other to unite and fight this violence together.
 Violence is upon this world like a huge plague.

"It gets worse and worse every day.
We the people have to unite and solve this violence like a sage."
