University of Massachusetts Boston

ScholarWorks at UMass Boston

1-1-2015

Do the Write Thing Essay, 2015

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umb.edu/dtwt

Part of the Civic and Community Engagement Commons, Domestic and Intimate Partner Violence Commons, and the Educational Sociology Commons

Recommended Citation

Violence always comes with consequences

Violence affected my life, when I got into a fight at school. How the fight happened was someone threw a marker at me and it my face. So I threw it back, then he pushed me, so I pushed him back. Then he pushed me into the lockers, so I pushed him into a table, then he swung at me and he missed so I punched him in the face .Then he tried to hit me but he missed all his swings. Then my friends pulled me off of him. Then we got sent to the schools office and we each got a two day suspension.

The cause of youth violence is people assuming and kids saying mean things to other kids behind there back. Like if the bully each other they will be like "hey you're ugly, so I don't like you". That sentence can turn an argument into a violent situation.

One way you can stop Youth violence is by making signs or recommending youth jobs or community centers and clubs to join. Like I did, on Fridays a go to a community center to play basketball Right after school with some of my friends. Too get out of violent situations.