Violence Essay.

Violence is bad and can affect most of everyone's daily lives. Normally violence is used in a position of anger and hate against others. There is a lot of tension and can lead to lots of consequences and bad situations.

Violence is a form of dangerous actions cause by either misunderstandings miscommunication and or arguing. Also violence is something used in physical use or verbal manners to harm another. Violence is something all around the world, it has created hate and aggression, pain for everyone to start arguing, or fighting. We have to all tame peace in our community. Violence in not a good thing to have in your body used in the use of force. Also it can be a bad influence on the younger ages.

Violence has affected my life in many harmful ways. It would cause lives to be taken and a family member getting hurt, or going to a hospital. For example one time we had a party and my mom's friend's girlfriend was invited but I guess she got drunk and was acting disrespectful towards everyone and she hit my mom when my mom asks her to leave. Then my mom reacted towards the situation and got mad and the lady and my mom started arguing. Then the police had to get involved and pay a visit to our house and arrest the lady who started the drama. It was terrible for me to even watch and hear.

There isn't only adult uses of violence there also is youth violence. To better understand youth violence is a clarification of younger minder children such as teenagers, and kids etc. We need to put an end to all the teenagers and younger children fighting. But mainly the causes of youth violence is bullying and actions of trying to be someone you are not and taking advantage of another person and or doing illegal things etc. There are lots of ways you can control yourself from violence, not inforce yourself and getting involved into the situation putting yourself in a tight and terrible position. But the main and important cause of youth violence is bullying. When bullying takes place what's hurts me the most is the bystanders not reporting the accident happening and when it is taking place do it before a young ones life gets taken.

The question I am focusing on is "What can I do about youth violence"? The one thing that I can do about youth violence is I could write or make an announcement about what we should do to stop all violence from taking place and by doing that I could persuade all schools to create a class that every school should have based on violence and what can lead to the bad consequences of the bad situation you have stumbled upon. I think that this would be a good idea because it would teach the kids what it would lead to and what is the main situation about violence, so it would help them to understand why you should not use it against your will or anyone else's.

Violence is bad don't ever get yourself involved in any situation using force or harming one another. The things that can stop violence from happening that second is leaving the situation just walk away. For example if someone approaches you in a verbal and hurtful way don't make the situation worst walk away and be the bigger person. Don't be the one who gets the consequences and gets left in the dirt, be the one that gets a reward and passes the finish line.
