Project Compass hosts Learning Community Meeting

On November 5 and 6, 2007 NERCHE held the first of two Project Compass Learning Community meetings at the Crowne Plaza Hotel in Worcester, MA. Funded by the Nellie Mae Education Foundation and administered by NERCHE, Project Compass is a multi-year regional initiative to help more underrepresented students succeed in and graduate from public four-year institutions of higher education in New England. Six institutions—Bridgewater State College, Eastern Connecticut State University, Lyndon State College, University of Maine at Presque Isle, University of Massachusetts Boston, and Western Connecticut State University—were awarded planning year grants to prepare proposals for four years of implementation funding from the Foundation.

NERCHE Think Tanks: Call for Nominations

NERCHE is accepting nominations for membership in its Think Tanks for administrators in New England for the 2008-2009 academic year. Since 1988, NERCHE has convened Think Tanks for administrators and faculty representing the diversity of colleges and universities in New England. The Think Tanks embody the essence of NERCHE's work—collaboration, diversity, and scholarship rooted in practice. Participants are nominated and selected because of their reputations for leadership, creativity, and interest in establishing collegial networks beyond their institutions. The Think Tanks serve not only as a venue for exchanging information and resources, but also as a forum for translating theory into practice as members draw policy implications from their discussions. NERCHE's Leadership Speakers Series begins its second year

Now in its second year, the Leadership Speakers Series is sponsored by NERCHE on behalf of the doctoral program in higher education administration at UMass Boston. The Series is an opportunity for UMass Boston doctoral program students, alumni, and faculty to meet in an informal environment with state, regional, and national leaders, acknowledged for their vision and ability to make substantive change in higher education.
