A Local Approach to Transportation Services for Elders

• 349 Councils on Aging across the state
• Most operate senior centers, not all
• Some COA’s function as a consortium
• Some operate on all volunteer staffing
• Some operate under the umbrella of larger departments
• Some provide their own transportation services, some contract, some have volunteers

All of FriendshipWorks’ services are provided by volunteers and are free to elders. Programs include:

- Friendly Helping
- La Cadena de Amistad

La Cadena de Amistad
FriendshipWorks provides volunteer escorts door-through-door for elders (60+) in Boston and Brookline. This is not a transportation program, but helps those who need extra assistance to access health care.
Elders require escorts for a range of needs that transportation options alone cannot meet, including:

- Physical disability (vision, mobility)
- Emotional support
- Hospital requirement for procedure (colonoscopy, cataracts, outpatient surgery)
- Language (Spanish)
Who are the Volunteers?

Volunteers are interviewed, reference checked, CORI checked, and trained prior to starting as medical escorts. Many are:

- Retirees
- Pre-medical undergrad and graduate students
- Medical professionals
Volunteers’ Role

Volunteers provide extra support door-through-door, from the elder’s home, to the hospital, during the appointment, and back home again. Support may include:

- Light physical assistance
- Listening to an elder’s concerns and going over questions before the appointment
- Advocating for an elder at the hospital
- Sitting in on an appointment to take notes or ensure elder understands
- Making alternate arrangements if there are problems with transportation
The Elders we Serve:

• 95% live alone

• 80% have functional limitations

• 64% have 0 or just one friend/family member near by

• 72% would otherwise be unable to attend appointments
“I’m normally sad after my procedure and I feel tired and weak. But today, [the volunteer’s] smile lifted my spirits! You gave me hope!”

-Service recipient, June 2015

“What people! It makes you still believe in the human race.”

-Service recipient, Feb. 2015

“[My mother] was absolutely thrilled with the help today with her appointment. [The volunteer] was so kind and helpful with the wheelchair… she had a great day!”

-Adult child of recipient, April 2015
