Summary/Abstract

Given the burgeoning Latino population and the minimal research on school counseling interventions with this population, we purport to implement a culturally sensitive intervention promoting academic success among Latina youth that includes life skills, academic skills, and Latino dance.

Goals and Objectives

Goal: Promote academic success and well-being among Latina youth through targeted group interventions with students and outreach to parents and including community involvement.

Co-create curriculum through collaboration with DMC partners to best meet the needs of students, parents, and other key stakeholders. Includes:

- life skill development
- reading comprehension skill development
- Latino dance

Results/Impacts

- Pilot study is off to a great start with 10 Latina 5th grade girls participating.
- Parents are actively involved through phone check-ins to reinforce academic work and assigned readings.

Conclusion/Next Steps

- Apply for grant funding to strengthen and include more participants in upcoming years.
- Pursue summer and after-school programming.

Goals and Objectives

Approaches and Methods

Students first meet for 30 minutes to engage in discussion focusing on:

- building self-efficacy, self-confidence, and life skills (using Hellison’s model)
- making connections to academic success.

Students engage in 30 minutes of dance/physical activity that is:

- consistent with cultural practices
- co-created with group leaders and students in collaboration with UMass Boston’s Performing Arts program.
