Violence, a serious matter happened in my life multiple times. When my uncle got shot, I was very afraid going to places alone. Always remembering that made me feel threaten, scared and afraid especially at night where some one can appear and do a crime and escape easily with out being caught.

Youth violence is affected by a lot of things. A example is hatred and a bad childhood. Another example is the parent's influence. Kids might be bad because the parent is also bad. The parent may abuse the child then the child may abuse some one else so they feel better about themself. I believe that another thing that cause youth violence is a want. Kids might steal from a store because they want some something. These are some reason that cause youth violence.

Although there are many ways people could solve this, some ways I could solve this is by telling parents to be good so the childs can also be good. Another way I could stop youth violence is giving away stuff. Somehow I could start a competition where people could plat games with each other to win a prize.

These are some ways I could stop youth violence.
