No Violence!

I think people should not use violence because it can hurt people. If you want to know more reasons why I think that, then read on.

One reason I think that people should not do violence because they can hurt people, and those people is someone's family. Imagine your family being in violence, you would not like that, so why are you doing this to other people. I think people do violence because they play too much video games. If they stop playing video games, then they will not do violence. When they play video games too much it also changes how you think. When they play video games and when they see all those violence, they might also use violence. And when they use violence it make our city unpeaceful. That was a reason why I think that violence should not be use.

Another reason why I think people should not use violence because they can hurt other people. People do violence because they might have something sad or mad inside. They might not like that person. I think that even though you do like that person that person, you still should not use violence.

Another reason why I think people should not use violence because they will make our city unpeaceful. If they did not use violence, then our city would be a peaceful city.

Those were all the reasons why I think that people should not use violence.
