Do The Right Thing

When I was in the fourth grade I was bullied. A lot. I had no idea why the kids were bullying me at first I had never done anything to them. I didn't even know them. Some days at recess I would try to stay as far away as possible, but they always picked on me. And me only. They would spit harsh words at me, but I ignored them. On the inside it hurt, but I knew if I had shown it they would have gotten more out of it. This didn't happen every day. But it sure did feel like it. From that point on I more shy and less open. I didn't talk that much and I never made direct eye contact with other kids. Till this day I still don't know why those kids bullied me. Maybe for a laugh. But I wasn't laughing, only the opposite. I have never told anyone because they would just come after me more. I may not have been able to stop it, but you can! You can make a difference! You can help other people! And you can change the world! Don't be like me and keep it to yourself. Tell somebody. And always, always Do The Right Thing!
