My Violence Poem

Roses are red, but so is anger.

Violets are blue so is the victims parents face when their child got shot on the news.

daisy's are white but so is the parents funeral color they want to bury their child in.

anger leads from bullying or abuse at the age of 24 more people are likely to end up in jail.

and the kids that play killing games they end up to be the one to commit a crime because of your mind if you always see violence your mind will think its okay.

violence can be things like drunk driving because you can kill people
