Violence

Violence, violence leaves a scare, it scares people to stand up for other and for themselves. This affected my life by my cousin show a bad example, she live in Florida. When my cousin was at the cafeteria she saw a bully picking on a kid, so my cousin went up to the bully and she just slap the bully really hard in the face. She left a a hand mark in the face.

The Only reason the bully was picking on the kid because he/she was smart and he/she had an accident.

I think the youth cause is if they are in a gang and they have to look tough in front of their crew. Sometime it also could be of their past and they want to put the anger on others.

If I ever see anything or someone getting pick on I won't be like my cousin slapping people for no reason, I will be going to a teacher or talk to an adult.

So If you see anything don't be scare to stand up for yourself or even for others. Go to an adult or even a teacher and speak up, make a change.
