

New England Journal of Public Policy

Volume 8
Issue 1 Special Issue on Homelessness: New England and Beyond

Article 9

3-23-1992

Question

Edward Baros

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.umb.edu/nejpp>

Part of the Poetry Commons, Public Policy Commons, and the Social Policy Commons

Recommended Citation

Baros, Edward (1992) "Question," New England Journal of Public Policy. Vol. 8: Iss. 1, Article 9.
Available at: <https://scholarworks.umb.edu/nejpp/vol8/iss1/9>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by ScholarWorks at UMass Boston. It has been accepted for inclusion in New England Journal of Public Policy by an authorized editor of ScholarWorks at UMass Boston. For more information, please contact scholarworks@umb.edu.

Question

Edward Baros

What happens when the world
suddenly glows distant and life slips away into darkness or when the light of love and hope has gone and happiness becomes a figment of imagination?

When you reach out to touch
and there is nothing to touch, or to talk and there is no one to answer you except silence?

What happens when you want to put the right pieces in your puzzle of life together and you find that the important piece is missing?

What happens when you have issued out yourself in tiny segments and didn't reserve any for yourself?

2/4/91