PLAY PREMIERES AND HARBOR FESTIVAL

Letter to Corinth, a new play by Virginia Scott, associate professor of theatre UM, will premiere in Boston at UMB on Thursday April 26, 1:30-4:30. Letter to Corinth won the 1980 Harbor Festival Award given by UMB in a contest open to playwrights living in Mass. The award carries with it a $1,000 honorarium. This year, part of the honorarium was contributed by Jubilee 350.

Directed by Evgeny Dmolko, a member of UMB's Theatre Arts Department, Letter to Corinth takes place in Charles-town, Mass in 1834. It addresses the issue of religious intolerance. An historical event, the burning of the Ursuline Convent that year is the background for the play. Other Scott plays previously produced include The Bloom Is Gone at the U of Cal at Santa Barbara in 1963 and Tiger Fair, an original play for marionettes in Richmond, Va.

Dmolko recently became a permanent US resident. He has acted and directed throughout Europe. FOREIGN LANGUAGE COUNCIL

Robert Spaethling, chairman of Foreign Language Council, reports that since Jan when the CAS Senate adopted the recommendation of the Academic Affairs Committee to establish the Foreign Language Council consisting of one member from each of the five foreign language departments, a representative from Far Eastern languages and a seventh member elected at large from the foreign language faculty to serve as chairperson, the Council has met regularly.

Its purpose, he says, is to improve the major in and majors in psychology and to elaborate common teaching techniques. The Council also works to make language courses at UMB more visible and attractive to students both on and off the campus, according to Spaethling. "We have begun to tackle many issues common to the foreign languages. The Council is making good progress solving some of the problems individual departments and languages in general are faced with nowadays," he says. "This loose federation of language departments as embodied by the Council is a definite improvement over our previous state of existence. It sets common goals for all the languages, yet it preserves the cultural characteristics and professional integrity of each department."

TRUSTEES MEETING

At the 2 April meeting in Worcester the Board of Trustees approved a proposal submitted by the Committee on Student Affairs regarding a revised proposal for a systematic tuition setting policy. It has three principal features. First, an annual tuition adjustment review, which represents a major revision from an earlier proposal which called for a three-year tuition review cycle. Second, the systematic accounting of quantitative indices which reflect inflation, cost to the University and student ability to pay. The final feature is the application of judgmental factors which reflect the University's educational policy to offer quality University education to all qualified Massachusetts citizens.

The Board also approved student fee increases for fiscal 1991. No changes were submitted by UMB at this meeting.

Mary Helen Washington of U of Detroit, was awarded tenure as CAS associate professor of English.

There are displays of alphabets created by members of the Guild in a variety of media; reproductions of alphabets in books, including the famous 16th Century "Human Alphabet" of naked figures; an early 19th Century sampler; and wooden and metal type on loan from the fonts of the Thomas Todd Co of Boston. The Alphabet has been mounted to honor the Conference of the American Library Association's Rare Books and Manuscripts Section that will be held in Boston the end of June.
TOOLS FOR PROGRAMMING: Practical Laboratory Skills in Combination with the Technology Offers Excellent Career Opportunities to Physics, says an Interdepartmental Committee.

As a thesis alternative, second-year students may select an internship in a local industrial research laboratory. This option will provide them with hands-on experience and introduce them to industry. The cooperative arrangement is undertaken in collaboration with companies in greater Boston.

The program will be directly computer oriented and require highly skilled individuals such as application physicists, engineers, and chemists. Through training in the sciences and mathematics, the new program will provide students with a range of career options in high technology.

UMB will also offer a new five-year BA/MS degree in physics this fall which gives the internship option to entering freshman and transfer students.

Dennis Dennehy of 110 Caf says the 110 Caf trays don't travel. "The removal of plastic trays from the Caf has caused some inconvenience to customers who dine within the cafeteria confines," says Dennehy. "All menu items will be wrapped upon request for take out orders and 'carry out' cardboard boxes to transport food to dine in another location."

The Women's Studies Program in Environmental Issues was formed in 1976. Membership includes approximately 50 women architects and planners from around the country. The group was formed to study environmental issues in China, to visit China and to participate in ongoing exchange with architects and planners in China. Bi-weekly study groups were formed in San Francisco, New York, Knoxville and Boston. The Architectural Society of China first invited us to send a delegation in 1977," says Kennedy. "I was a member. We were only the third group of architects to be invited from this country since 1949 and we were the first women's group."

"In 1978, the Society sent a delegation of architects to the International Architects Conference in Mexico. Women were included in their delegation for the first time. As a result of our participation they acknowledge that this was due to our influence. In China, 40 percent of the architects and engineers are women, compared to about three percent here. They have not tended to occupy high positions."

"The AIA asked to sponsor with the State Department, a visit by the delegation to the US following the conference. The AIA instead asked to be sponsored by the Women's China Study Group. We, therefore, became the first non-governmental group to sponsor the visit of a delegation from China to this country. They visited NYC and Boston. In Boston, they coordinated their visit with the Vietnam Winter Village which was meant to show American veterans and the public the conditions in Vietnam," says Kennedy.

"The Women's China Study Group was invited to send a delegation of no more than fifteen members to visit China for three weeks this month. We were asked to introduce American advanced experiences in urban planning, housing, building law, construction management, hospital building and architectural theory," Kennedy says.
If you or your department needs work processing capacity, Forrest Speck in Auxiliary Services is the person to contact. He says, "A number of offices have expressed interest in developing a strong word processing capacity on campus. We have identified three categories: repeat typing, text editing and communication. To define more particularly UMB requirements and available equipment, the Computing Center and Auxiliary Services will create a Request for Proposal this month." Speck says, no matter how much you know about the subject or how little, feel free to contact him or Joe Crick with questions or suggestions X2458 or Joe Crick x2385 within the month.

DEADLINE TO ENCUMBER FUNDS MAY 1

The final date to encumber for purchases on state funds is Thur 1 May. All requisitions for such purchases must be received in the Purchasing Office on or before that date, according to Byron A Drinkwater, Controller. This cut-off date does not apply to current unrestricted funds (Ledger 2 accounts) or Auxiliary Enterprise Accounts (Ledger 3 accounts). However, it does apply to Educational Development funds that were appropriated for the Faculty Bargaining Unit (account 6-36532 and 6-36537), he says.
