USE OF POSTAGE FUND

An analysis of the cost of postage expended on state funds indicates that many departments are spending state funds for postage when they use the University Postage meter, instead of charging this postage to the proper trust or grant fund. In the future, meter postage will be carefully scrutinized and in cases where it is found that the postage cannot be legitimately charged to State Funds, the particular department will be required to reimburse the postage account for the cost. It has also been revealed that first class mail is being used for material which should be sent third and fourth class.

It is recommended that any department making a large mailing, contact the Central Mail Department in order to determine the most economical manner of mailing. All mail will be sent at the lowest practical rate.
