Assignment: Do the write thing "write an essay that causes or solution for young violence.

In this generation, violence controls everything. Everyday, you would hear something violence like somebody killing somebody else. More youth get into violence situations than adult because they have more problems that could cause their life. Songs and movies influenced people that violence is the answer to solve everything. It makes everything worse;

- When your life in hard, suicidal thoughts come across their mind.
- When somebody is threaten you, the best thing is to attack them instead of using words.

People act violently by so many actions and life;

- Reverage
- Jealousy
- Anger

One of the best example of an influent movie is "Juice". Tupac (in that character) turned on all three of his bestfriends who was always there for him when he needed them because they told him not to do something that could affect the whole community. When he held that gun on his hand, he thought everything would go right. How people take anger on other people and just want everything to go your way by betraying/ mistreated the people that know the best for you. Everything could happen on a blink of and eye. You could be so close to something today and enemy with them on the next. Everybody make mistakes, but you need to know when to stop.

The 21st century isn't what most people expected. Since Michael Jackson died, there's no more "changing the world". But there's still artist who actually have songs about changing the world and how our generation is set up like The Game (rapping about the hood live and racism.) Racism also is what causes violence. February 26th, 2012 was a tragic days for most people. Trayvon Martin was shot because he have him hood on and he was black. The kid only went to the store late night to get some Arizona and a pack of Skittle and was killed by George Zimmerman because Trayvon looked suspicious. First, Zimmerman should be killing himself for shooting a 17 year-old person. He still have a lot to go. He didn't even get to say bye to his family.

Our world that we are living in is a dangerous place. It's never safe. I feel like if there's less anger, drama, jealousy, betraying, etc... Our world would be completely different. There would still be shooting but less shooting then there was before.
