Dedication-Inauguration Ceremonies

The formal dedication of the Harbor Campus of UMass-Boston will be on Saturday, April 27, with Governor Francis W. Sargent as the principal speaker.

In addition to the dedication, the formal installation of Dr. Carlo L. Golino as Chancellor will take place.

Presiding at the ceremonies for educational, civic, government, business, and community representatives will be Dr. Robert C. Wood, President of the University of Massachusetts.

These ceremonies will be at 10:30. In the afternoon, an important analysis of "The Urban University in the Seventies" will be held at a colloquium featuring leading members of the education world: Dr. David Riesman, noted Harvard sociologist and author of "The Academic Revolution" (with Christopher Jencks); Dr. Sidney P. Marland, Jr., now President of the College Entrance Examination Board; and Dr. Robert Weaver, former Secretary of Housing and Urban Development and now Director of Urban Affairs for Hunter College.

Open House

On Sunday, April 28th, the University community will be hosts to the community-at-large at an Open House from 1 to 6 p.m. This is the first opportunity to show the citizens of the nearby communities the facilities that have been provided to us in the teaching and learning mission entrusted to us.

Chancellor Golino has asked all departments to provide personnel in their areas to be on hand to answer questions that may arise about our educational programs.

The Open House is for all residents of the Commonwealth, especially for families of the University community who have not seen our facilities.

Anthropology Club

The Anthropology Club at UMass/Boston will present a film series on the YANOMAMO Indians of Venezuela and the Kalahari BUSHMEN. The films, produced by Documentary Educational Resources, will be presented April 15-19 and April 22-26 at 12:30-2:00, in College II, third floor, room 008.

The schedule:

April 15, Monday

"Yanomamo; A Multi-disciplinary Study" - a film showing a multi-disciplinary research team doing fieldwork in human population genetics.

April 16-19

Subsequent films will deal with specialized topics of Yanomamo life.

April 22, Monday

"The Hunters" - recounts the hunting and tracking of a giraffe by a small group of Kung Bushmen.

April 23-26

Subsequent films will deal with specialized topics concerning the Bushmen.

Women's Faculty Caucus

The Women's Faculty Caucus met on Tuesday, March 19, to discuss the numbers, tenured positions, and salaries of UMass-Boston faculty women, and to plan for future action relating to these matters.

The Caucus elected an Executive Committee which, in the next few weeks, will be studying carefully the UMass-Boston Affirmative Action Plan and affirmative action data currently being compiled by HEW.

Executive Committee members are: Martha Collins, chairperson (English II); Mary Anne Ferguson (English I); Delores Gallo (TCP); Mary Lee Evans Kimball (French II); and Susanne Morgan (Sociology I).

Anyone wishing to communicate with the committee concerning the problems of faculty women should contact Ms. Collins (x3133) or other committee members.

Chess Challenge

The Chess Club at UMass/Boston, which features a number of strong players, has challenged the faculty to a chess match. To date only two faculty members, Michael Tomlinson and Dennis Wortman, both of Math II, have volunteered for the blood bath. Three more faculty are needed for the faculty team. If you are interested, please contact Arthur Martin, Physics, at Ext. 2363.

College I Sociology Colloquium

A Colloquium on "Distaff on Skid Row: East Side, West Side - All Around the Bowery" will be presented by William Edwards, Director, Shelter Care Center for Women, Department of Services, City of New York on April 23, at 12:15 - 2:00 in the Sociology Lounge, College I, Level 05-41.

Students, Faculty and Staff are invited.

City Hall Photography Exhibit

During the month of April you should try to get to Boston's City Hall to see an exhibit of 100 dramatic and humanly touching photographs taken by students in four Boston schools.

The exhibit culminates a beautiful linkage between the University, the Boston schools, and the community. People in the Institute of Learning and Teaching, the UMass-Boston Art Department, the Student Activities Office, and the Bilingual Department of the Boston Public Schools. Including six UMass-Boston students, the groups have been working with children at the McCormack School at Columbia Point, the Michelangelo School in the West End, the Curley School in Jamaica Plain, and the Edison School in Brighton. The pictures show Boston life in settings of Black, Italian, Chinese and Spanish Cultures.
